About Freshfields Farm

You may have seen the Freshfields Farm sign just outside of Tumalo, but have you stopped in to check out all of the goodies they have to offer? Donna Caffee and David Brehm have a roadside stand where you can pick up anything from eggs to homemade pies. Both hailing from the east coast, they moved to Central Oregon for the fly fishing but found themselves farming on the side. Now they farm on six acres and have a Bed & Breakfast with a view of the Three Sisters Mountains, and is a stone's throw from Bend.

"The beauty of farm fresh is it's all different."

Why farm?

"To watch things grow, see people get excited about food, and the satisfaction at the end of the day. I used to teach cooking in Portland at a grocery store. I've always loved teaching and would like to incorporate cooking classes."

Will you expand?

"We would like to get more involved with meat and specialize in garlic but the vision will change as we change."
