About In Cahoots Heirloom Apple Collaborative

In Cahoots is a collaborative made up of community members who come together around one thing: apples. The apples are locally sourced heirlooms with rare and vintage varieties. The collaborative strives to be good stewards of the land, using responsible growing practices and restoring old apple trees. Each owner doesn't have enough apples to make cider, but combined they provide enough to create specialty ciders, beers and other beverages at 10 Barrel Brewing, Deschutes Brewery, Ale Apothecary and Crux Fermentation. The orchards are located throughout Central Oregon. They believe that they have strength in numbers and that they're better when "IN CAHOOTS" with other local growers.

"Our trees are 100 years old, the apples have a story."

What types of apples?

"They are heirloom and include several rare varieties including Northern Spy, Winter Banana, Dudley, Newtown Pippin, Rome Beauty and varieties we're still working on identifying!"

Is it just about apples?

"Part of it is educating our members in restoring the trees, taking good care of them and being good stewards. We manage things organically and share best practices. We are always looking for additional growers."
